Campbell's Carol Ballard is one in a million . . . well one in 100,000 at least. She recently returned from the Pillsbury Bake-Off finals held in Boston this bicentennial year. As one of the 100 finalists in the annual baking contest, Carol received an all-expense paid five day trip to Boston and a chance to win some big money with her "Chili Dog Supper" creation. She didn't come back with any prize money but she did return with some once-in-a-lifetime memories of her stay. This is the third year Carol's entered (the other two entries were desserts) and she'd never heard a word in the past. "I'd forgotten I sent a recipe in," she said of this year's contest. "When I got the call I thought it must be a joke." She and the other 99 finalists had two chances to prepare their dishes in one of the gleaming row of ovens set up on the ballroom floor of the Statler Hilton in Boston. Since the firm has copyrights to Carol's winning dish, she couldn't share the recipe but she describes it as hot dogs, baked in corn bread, topped with chili. The cost is about $2 for serving four to five people. Carol's, and the other finalists' recipes, are appearing in this year's Bake-Off cookbook. The 36-year-old mother of three daughters lives with her husband, Ben (a corporate manager) at 4150 Keith drive.

THE FAMED Milpitas Monster warms up for a Halloween battle against the soon-to-be-released Campbell Creature.

Halloween event

Campbell creature to meet Milpitas' monster challenge

MONSTER TIME is just around the corner and Campbell will be "hatching" one of its own this year.

A contest is underway locally to come up with a design for the CAMPBELL CREATURE to meet the famous Milpitas Monster on the field of battle Saturday, Oct. 30 . . . the day before Halloween.

Bob Burrill, Ayer high school photography teacher and mentor of the famed Milpitas smog creature, has confirmed the Oct. 30 appearance here and challenged Campbell to come up with a creature all its own. "I dare you," Burrill declared.

School groups, clubs and individuals are invited to submit drawings, ideas or basic descriptions to Mark McCarroll at the Campbell Community Services office, 75 N. Central ave. For more information call 378-8141.

The surprise prize to be awarded to the winner will be announced later, McCarroll said. Deadline for entries is Monday, Oct. 11.

Once the "Creature" is selected and properly outfitted, he, she or it will be making some personal appearances at local schools to announce the costume parade planned for Oct. 30 at the library.

But the big event will be the appearance that afternoon at the "Monster Mash" held in the south parking lot of the library. Also on tap is musical entertainment by a local rock group.

Attorney submits application for planning commission seat

A CAMPBELL ATTORNEY has submitted his application for the vacancy on the planning commission, bringing the total of hopefuls for that post to three.

Norman Bartell, 42, 739 W. Latimer ave., is the latest person to seek a spot on the local advisory board. Earlier, George Vierhus and Herschel Holderman submitted their applications.

No date has been set yet for interviews for any of the eight vacancies on city advisory commissions.

The Civic Improvement Commission also has an opening (Holderman and Lillian Moore have applied) and six of the seven spots on the Youth Advisory Commission are vacant. (Applicants to date are Blair Evans, Jim Berryessa, Mary Berryessa and Stacie McMahon.)

Papers, for any of the openings, are available at the reception desk at City Hall, 75 N. Central ave.

Official banquet

Campbell kids feted in style

CAMPBELL TURNED out in force last Friday night to honor their Little League All-Star champions and so did most elected officials, either in person or by telegram.

A capacity crowd of over 450 jammed the main banquet hall at Zorbas as the U.S. Champion team (and World Series runners-up) were feted with words, plaques, resolutions and trophies.

The 14 team members, manager Jack Zogg and coaches John Emory and Bob Holman took all the special attention in stride and even came up with some entertainment of their own — the highlight of the evening.

In a take-off of sportscaster Howard Cosell, All-Star John Lawson interviewed the boys and coaches and got in some one-liners that would do Cosell proud. "Rich Alvarez has all the publicity," Lawson declared at one point, "all the glory, all the interviews . . . and two of my shirts."

The team was presented with jackets, individual trophies, copies of state and federal resolutions, photographs and a large trophy donated by city employees. In turn the team presented their mothers with corsages and their fathers with cigars.

ON HAND TO PRESENT resolutions of commendation were Assemblyman Richard Hayden, State Senator Jerry Smith, Supervisor Rod Diridon, Mayor Ralph Doetsch, all four city councilmen and Campbell elementary school board president Gordon Abbott.

Councilman Rusty Hammer spoke for Congressman Norman Mineta who recently introduced a resolution in Congress praising the Campbell team.

Telegrams were also read from U.S. Senators John Tunney and Alan Cranston, Governor Jerry Brown and President Gerald Ford (see box).

In his talk to the crowd Friday, Hayden related that the state assembly took notice when word came down that California had a team in the Little League World Series. "All 80 assemblymen who didn't know where Campbell, California was, learned in a hurry," he laughed.

And for next year, Hayden promised that the state flag now flying from the Capitol Building in Sacramento will be given to the Campbell Little League to fly over their field on opening day.

Planetarium series starts

"ON OUR WAY TO STARDOM" is the first show in the West Valley College fall planetarium series.

Offered each Friday night at 7:30 p.m., the series begins Sept. 17 in the planetarium at the Saratoga campus.

The program traces the curiosity of people for exploring the unknown, particularly space, and most recently the Viking mission to Mars. The series is directed by Tom Bullock, an instructor and planetarium director at West Valley College since 1969.

"On Our Way to Stardom" runs for six Fridays and reservations must be made by contacting the college's community services office, 44 E. Latimer ave., 379-9415. Admission is 50 cents per person.

Rent due

Wilderness club gets the boot

By PAT SAFFORD

THE USE OF THE old Scout Hall by the Wilderness Center was brought to a halt Monday night as city councilmen voted 4-1 to give the club their walking papers.

With Councilman Dean Chamberlin casting the only "no" vote, city officials directed City Attorney J. Robert Dempster to send out a 30 day notice to the club (formerly called the West Valley Hiking Club) to vacate the city-owned building located at the corner of Grant street and N. Third.

The club offers trips and excursions to youths and adults and serves Santa Clara county.

Problems in getting cooperation from club officials during their two year tenancy have been a recurring theme at council meetings but a report by City Manager Bob Stephens Monday night brought things to a head.

First, he reported that no rent has been paid since the club agreed to come up with $250 monthly to be used for building maintenance two months ago. Second, councilmen learned that attempts to contact club leaders have again failed and the new one year city license, approved on July 27, has still not been signed by Wilderness Center officials.

THE FINAL REPORT, that sparked some angry response from councilmen, was that the city is currently liable for the property since the club's endorsement insurance policy has lapsed.

"They haven't even (signed the agreement) yet," Councilman Rusty Hammer declared. "I've had it with them."

Wednesday, Dempster was scheduled to send out the 30 day notice by registered letter with the city directive to vacate effective Oct. 15.

In recent months complaints by neighbors have caused some official concern and the council recently directed staff to meet with club officials to try and work on the problems. Charges lodged against the club include allegations that neighboring fences have been damaged, buses parked on the property in violation of the license agreement and that the center's operation has caused excessive noise and congestion in the surrounding residential neighborhood.

Earlier, club officials denied some of the charges and said only "out of commission" buses have been parked on the property. They also said they plan to purchase small vans to replace the large, blue buses.

Attempts by the PRESS to contact club officials were unsuccessful.

City to negotiate for surplus land

CAMPBELL ELEMENTARY school officials have finally sent out the letter declaring the old Campbell grammar school property, at Campbell and Winchester avenues, surplus and Campbell city officials will be negotiating for at least part of it.

The letter from Jack Salsbury, assistant superintendent-business, is dated Aug. 26 and public jurisdictions and agencies have 60 days in which to come up with their offers.

For Campbell, two parcels of the prime downtown land are of special interest since they fall within the plan lines for the north loop street (Civic Center drive). Monday night the council authorized their agents to enter into negotiations for those parcels.

The balance of the property, which includes several buildings, such as the old grammar school, will also get some official notice from the city.

All commissions were directed to study the question of whether the city needs this land and, if so, what uses they would recommend. The commissions were directed to come back to the council by the first meeting in October with their recommendations.

CAMPBELL ELEMENTARY school officials took the official action declaring that property surplus several months ago but the "60 day" time period doesn't start until the letter is mailed.

Earlier, interested was expressed in the land by County Housing Authority Director John Burns who said a multi-development including low-income housing for the elderly, offices and small shops would be a good use for that land.

Under state law the property is first offered to public agencies. If, at the end of 60 days, no offers are forthcoming, the parcel can then be offered to commercial developers.

Any proceeds from the sale would revert to the state to pay off existing state building fund loans. While the property sale would not result in lowering the school district's operating budget, it could lower taxes by reducing interest on indebtedness.

Multi-million dollar project

Border development stirs traffic worries

A MULTI-MILLION dollar land development, that dwarfs the Pruneyard by comparison is planned for a 83 acre parcel near Campbell's border. And city officials are worried.

Ainsley corporation is planning to develop commercial, professional office and high density, multi-level apartments on the large parcel bounded by Hamilton avenue, between Bascom and Leigh avenues.

The city's concern is with the traffic impact on Hamilton, already the busiest non-freeway street in the county. San Jose planners recently asked for the city's opinion as part of the required Environmental Impact Report (EIR), since one lane of traffic along the planned development is within Campbell's city limits.

Monday night the city council authorized spending $1,500 out of the city's general fund to retain a traffic consultant to study the situation and make recommendations on how the huge development can minimize impact on the already choked traffic pattern.

An estimated 60,000 to 70,000 cars a day travel along Hamilton avenue between Bascom avenue and highway 17. The new development is estimated to produce an additional 21,000 cars a day, according to the Ainsley corporation.

"OUR MAJOR CONCERN is not with the use," City Manager Bob Stephens said Tuesday, "it's with the traffic."

Among suggestions made by developers is that the bridge over highway 17 be widened to accommodate the additional traffic flow. Preplanning is already underway between the city and state highway officials to see about a jointly funded bridge widening project (estimated at over $400,000).

"If (the development) is going to make that widening imperative," Stephens said "maybe we should see about San Jose sharing some of that cost."

Campbell's Pruneyard development, the largest in the city, contains 34 acres while the Ainsley corporation project is over twice that size.

THERE'S AN irony in the issue of painting out student murals, according to Marsha Wells, former district art coordinator. Last year a team of evaluators from the state department of education visited Campbell to inspect the mural work. The local district was cited as having an "exemplary art project" and school officials in other districts were encouraged to visit Campbell to see the projects. "At the rate we are going," says Wells, "there will soon be nothing to see."

Moorpark art

School murals' reprieve sought

By PAT SAFFORD

MOORPARK SCHOOL has been waiting a long time for a fresh coat of paint but last week one district teacher called for a temporary halt to the refurbishing. At issue are the student murals which grace one side of the Thornton way school.

Marcia Wells, former district art coordinator now a Monroe school teacher, visited school officials last week to try and keep those murals from being painted out. At least until Moorpark students are consulted, she says.

Originally done in the spring of 1975, the murals were one of several in the Campbell elementary district up until last year. Then, one by one they've been painted out until this year the only ones remaining are at Sherman Oaks, Blackford, Quito and, temporarily, Moorpark.

According to Principal Tony Van Laarhoven, both faculty and the parent's group were consulted before the decision was made last year to have the murals painted out. Students were not polled he added, because the younger students were not in school at the time the murals were painted, the the upper grade students have now left for junior high school. Also, Van Laarhoven says Moorpark had a 31 per cent student turnover last year.

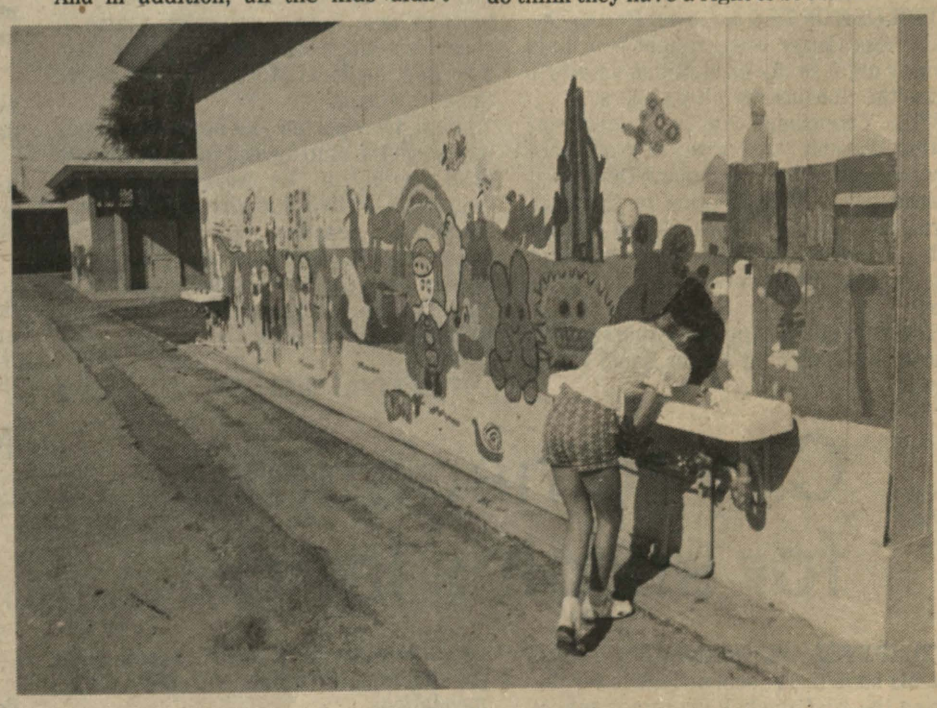
"And in addition, all the kids didn't have a part in (painting it) either," he added.

"I WAS ASTONISHED to learn that the Moorpark staff had voted to paint over the children's murals," Mrs. Wells declared last week. "And I can appreciate the fact that the new people who did not participate do not have a direct experience of what it meant to the kids to do it." (Van Laarhoven became principal at Moorpark in the fall of 1975 and a number of Moorpark teachers have been transferred to other schools.)

The former art consultant's criticism is two-fold. First, that the students who did the work and paid for the project out of student funds were not consulted.

Second, she'd like to see the district adopt a policy to handle future similar situations. After a meeting with Superintendent Jim D'Avis last week, Mrs. Wells said he'll be presenting a proposed district policy dealing with permanent and semi-permanent children's art work to a meeting of school principals this Monday. After discussion there, a recommended policy is expected to go to the school board for consideration in October.

"Who do the schools belong to?" questioned Mrs. Wells last week. "Partly the kids after all they 'live' there almost as many waking hours as they do at home. I do think they have a right to be asked."



DUE TO BE painted out when Moorpark school get a face lift this month is student art work which was painted in the spring of last year. According to Principal Tony Van Laarhoven, both faculty and parents have agreed that wall should be painted. In fact, Van Laarhoven says he met again recently with the PTA executive board and they voted unanimously for the repainting (a second time).

Applications for vacancy

Deadline next week for chamber post

THE CAMPBELL Chamber of Commerce expects to have a new executive vice president picked out by the first week in October, President Jim Norris announced last week.

Deadline for applications for the local post, that pays from $12,000 to $15,000, has been set for Friday, Spet. 24 by the selection committee, Norris reported.

Former chamber executive Jim Haliburton put in his last day here today, Sept. 15. He's accepted a convention and tourism post with the Santa Clara Chamber of Commerce.

Main reason for the move, Haliburton said earlier, was financial. He says the new post carries with it a hefty pay raise.

According to Norris, he feels the pay scale offered by the Campbell Chamber is "probably comparable" with that of similar sized chambers. Personally, I'd like to see our manager making $50,000 a year out of the $200,000 a year in dues we'd need to give that kind of pay," Norris laughed.

TO DATE THE local chamber office has received a number of inquiries and applications from three local residents for the opening. This week the selections committee began advertising for the opening.

In addition to the vacancy, Campbell's chamber has another problem to contend with this week. Federal funding for the two CETA employees, now handling clerical duties, is scheduled to be cut off today. Earlier, a Sept. 1 date had been set by the county manpower board but that was later extended two weeks.

If funds are cut off, the local Chamber will be picking up the tab and will have to decide whether to keep both positions.

St. Lucy's youth set flea market

A spaghetti feed is also planned by the Youth Council this Saturday at 6 p.m.

Space is still available for the two-day sale. For information call 243-3361 or 243-5277.

High school board vacancy

Trustee Rutlen resigns, cites business travel

AT A SPECIAL meeting of the Campbell High School District Monday the board of trustees accepted, with regret, the resignation, of Vernon R. Rutlen, a member of the board for the past 12 years.

In his letter of resignation, Rutlen cited the extensive travel of his business requires which will keep him from attending meetings regularly for at least a year.

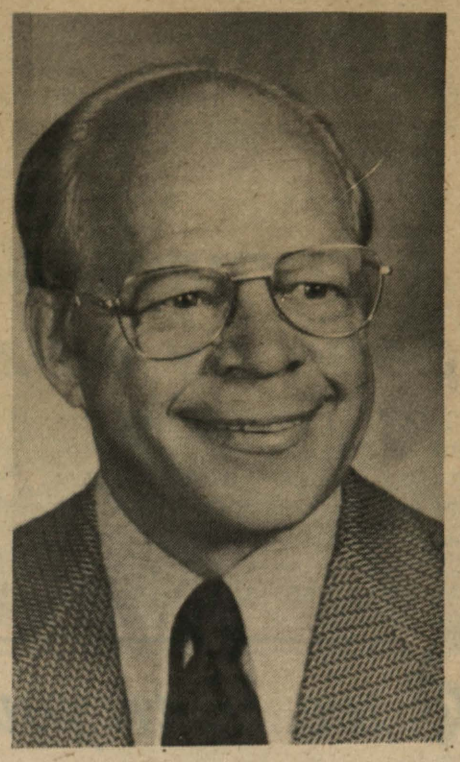
The retiring board member is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and was for 19 years a researcher and marketing manager for pharmaceuticals before starting his own Campbell business, Solar Fashions. For the past two years he has been doing research and market analysis on a medical device for use in treating blood and heart afflictions and will market the product through a pharmaceutical firm in Boulder, Colo.

The Rutlens reside at 12420 Radoyka road, Saratoga. Their three sons are graduates of Campbell district schools and their daughter is a senior at Prospect high school.

Coming to the Campbell area from Chicago in 1957, Rutlen soon became involved with the district schools. He was president of Blackford high school PTA, secretary and treasurer of the PTA district council, and a member of Project Alert, a community-wide program to solve problems of student delinquency.

He was appointed to the Campbell High School District Board of Trustees in 1964 upon the death of trustee Joseph Gomes. He was elected for a four-year term in 1965, and re-elected in 1969 and 1973. He served as president of the board from 1971 to 1973.

An interim appointment for the vacancy will be named by the board of trustees in October.



Vernon R. Rutlen

Special election impractical

Board to select interim member to serve out term

THE CAMPBELL UNION High School District Board of Trustees unanimously voted Monday to appoint a new member to fill the unexpired term of resigning board member Vernon R. Rutlen.

Under state law the board has the option of appointing a member to fill the vacancy or to call a special election. The regular school board election is scheduled for March 8, 1977.

The board decided that a special election at this time is both impractical and an unnecessary expense for taxpayers. The board's decision on the new board member will be made public Oct. 5.

Any registered voter residing in the Campbell Union High School District who is interested in the position may apply. Applications are available at the school district office, 3235 Union ave. The board will consider the applicants biographical data, purpose in seeking the post, views on the role and function of a school trustee and views on the function and purposes of the school system.

Board chairman Mac Martinez and member Dorothy Y. Goble will serve as the preliminary screening committee to review all written applications and recommend a minimum of three candidates to the board for personal interview.

The board has requested the assistance of the presidents, or their representatives, of the parent associations in each of the district's eight high schools to serve in an advisory capacity to the screening committee. Sept. 24 morning meeting has been set for the two groups to confer.

On Oct. 3, the three top applicants & or more, depending on the committee's selections — will be presented to the board of trustees. At a special meeting on Oct. 5 the board will then select a provisional board member who will be sworn in to fill out Rutlen's unexpired term, which ends March 8, 1977.

news briefs

DETOUR THIS WEEK

There won't be a through route on Campbell avenue this week as work on the north loop street continues.

Detour signs will redirect westbound traffic onto Third street to Latimer avenue and then left on Winchester back to Campbell. Eastbound traffic on Campbell will be allowed but will be restricted to one lane.

Last week the contractor completed the base paving of Campbell avenue east of the railroad tracks and work is continuing on the installation of 31 new street lights.

PLANNERS MEET

The continued public hearing on the possible revocation of the use permit for a boarding home for the aged highlights the Thursday, Sept. 16 meeting of Campbell planning commissioners. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall council chamber, 75 N. Central ave.

Brandon Manor I at 1285 W. Campbell ave. has come under fire from Battalion Chief Sal Leonardi (Campbell's Fire Marshall) for what he terms failure to provide adequate supervision for the elderly residents.

At the hearing before planners last month the owner and her attorney were to meet with City Attorney J. Robert Dempster and Leonardi to work out an agreement.

Without a fire clearance from the Fire Department, the local boarding home stands to lose its state license.

ANOTHER ROUND FOR SIMS

Alan Sims appeared before the city council Monday to again seek permission to convert a residence at 866 E. Campbell ave. into a restaurant.

This time neighbors complaints about traffic on adjacent Michael drive, caused by the restaurant, prompted officials to continue the hearing for two weeks while Sims works out a traffic circulation plan with the city public works department.

Proponents would like to see that station saved for other uses (such as the city museum and community services programs) when the present station is relocated. The building was named a point of historic interest by the state landmarks commission earlier this year (it housed the first City Hall).

Opponents feel the historic title is dubious since the building has received a major face lift since then. Others feel saving that building might interfer with plans for a downtown off-street parking district.

That property is now earmarked for parking spaces in the parking district.

NEW LOOK AT AMUSEMENT CENTERS

Robert Richmond got the official okay for a new amusement center at 2325 Winchester boulevard Monday night but councilmen also decided to take a close look at game centers in general.

By unanimous vote the city council authorized Police Chief Don Burr and City Attorney J. Robert Dempster to study a possible limitation on the number of amusement centers and come up with a recommendation.

GRANT COORDINATOR SOUGHT

Just two applications have been received so far for the position of city housing and community development grant coordinator.

Deadline for the position, with a pay range of $1,251 to $1,452 monthly, is August 27.

The salary of the new coordinator, initially to be paid out of contingency funds, will come out of federal funding when city housing projects are approved.

The primary job of the new employee will be to prepare grant applications and administer the city's housing and community development program.

Term of the position is temporary, from 1 to 4 years, depending on the amount of funding obtained.

LATERAL PASS FROM PLANNERS

Last October the City Council directed all city commissions to report back on the need for additional (community or historical) facilities and where they might be located.

When no reports were forthcoming the council brought the subject up again last month and "redirected" the commissions to act on the first request.

Last week, after a long discussion, the Planning Commission came up with a concensus.

The Commission "asks that recommendations for such facilities come from the Civic Improvement Commission and that (they) stand ready to act on these referrals from the Council."

Frank E. Rattie

Funeral services were held in Campbell yesterday for Frank E. Rattie, a retired Hamilton school custodian, who died Sept. 3 in San Jose after an illness.

The 82-year-old Campbell man was a World War I Army veteran. He was a native of Black River, Mich.

Surviving are his children, Annette Black of Campbell, Theodore Rattie of Maryland, Robert Rattie of Washington, Thomas Rattie of Santa Cruz, Winona Kuhn of Washington, Peter Rattie of Washington, James Rattie of Sacramento, and 18 grandchildren.

Darling-Fischer Campbell Memorial Chapel handled local arrangements.

Burial was in Golden Gate National Cemetery in Colma.

A commendable job done by citizenry

MORE MISERY

Last week we ran some definitions of "misery" and asked for comments. Here are those we received.

Misery is planning a vacation trip to see my daughter in Chicago for six months . . . only to arrive and find she was just transferred to San Francisco.

Misery is getting a free pass to a rock concert . . . and showing up the wrong night.

Misery is sitting through a four hour City Council meeting and then having the item you showed up for postponed for two weeks.

Misery is spending four months digging our backyard swimming pool and having a rainstorm spoil all the fun the first day we could use it.

And from two young readers . . .
Misery is cabbage and cauliflower.
Misery is my big brother.

I really enjoyed that article on misery last week but I don't have anything to offer. None of my miseries are funny.

Taint Funny

Just wanted to call and say, "You don't look old enough to be a grandmother."

Friendly Reader

(Editor's note: We received several similar comments this week and all I have to say is . . . better late than never.)

I really liked that story on the (Rolls Royce) businessman last week. I'll bet he does a land office business. I've already got a couple of things in mind myself.

Car Lover

There's some disagreement in our house over what was happening in the cover on the front page last week. Was the girl feeding the Little Leaguer or trying to give him a kiss?

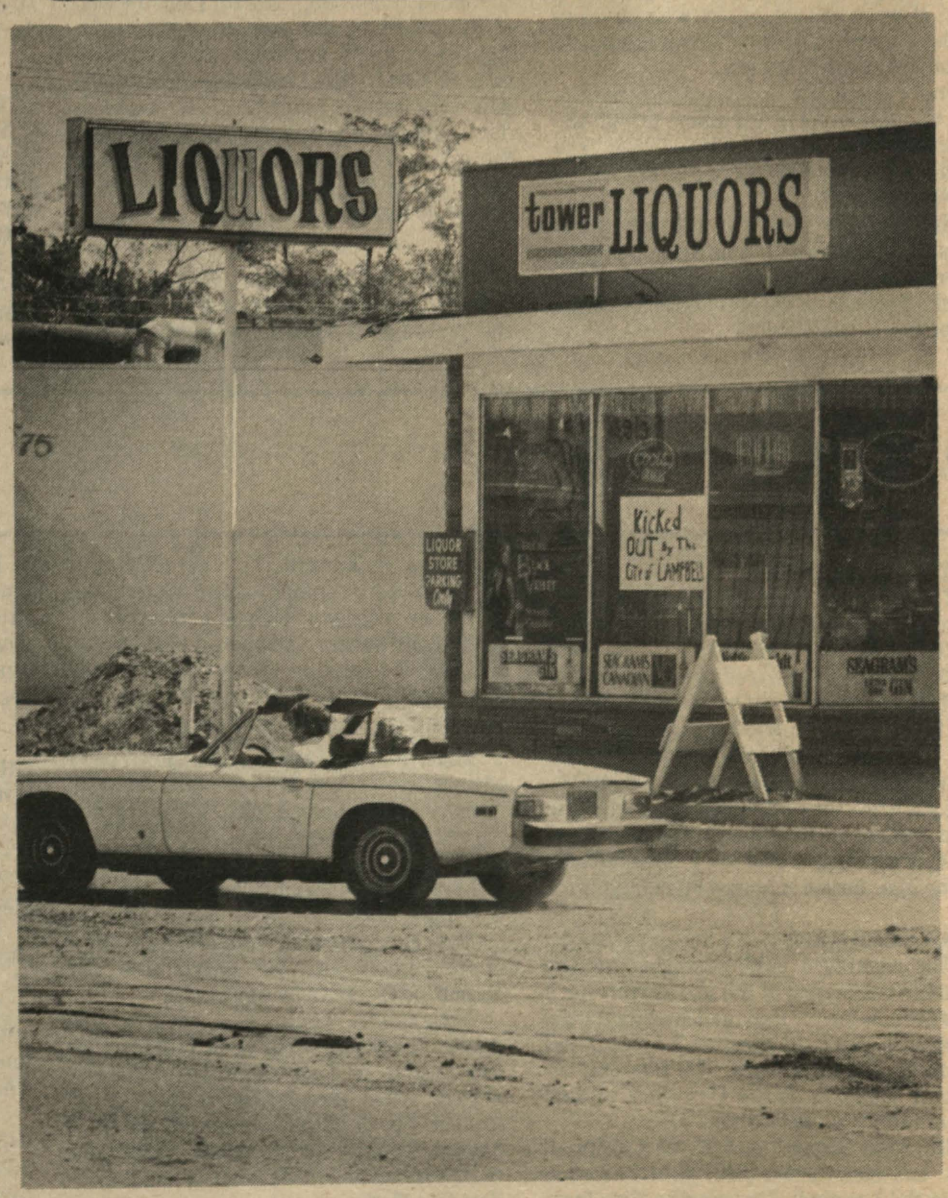
What's the Answer

(Editor's note: We can't tell either and the boy isn't talking.)

How did our paramedic come out in the bullriding competition last week?

Curious

(Editor's note: Mike Johnson, fire fighter-paramedica, says he stayed on the Brahma bull a little over three seconds, not enough to qualify for the finals. He was also sporting a bandaged arm last week caused by his abrupt departure from his mount. But Mike's not giving up. He vows he'll be back in there again next year, along with Paramedic-Fire Fighter Fred Van Hook. Reason for his short ride, Mike says, is that he was unlucky enough to pick the biggest, meanest bull in this year's Firefighters Rodeo.)



NOT EVERYONE is satisfied with the Campbell loop street project. Above, one store owner put her sentiments on the front window for everyone to see as she closed her business last week. (Photography by Gordon Lew)

NEWS TRAVELS . . .

Campbell was getting plenty of attention in the national media recently and one local businessman found out just how far that news traveled.

Kurt Ritter, of Ritter and Sons Hardware, received a letter from a client in Mason, Ohio just as the final World Series Little League game was to be played.

"Good luck to your 'Little Leaguers'," was the message penned in the return address space.

NEW HOME FOR THE MOOSE

Campbell Moose Lodge, 1811, recently gave up their lease at their old headquarters on McGlincey lane in Campbell.

They're purchasing a new center at 1580 Hamilton ave.

According to Secretary Ken Green, the lodge may now have a San Jose address, "but we're still the Campbell lodge."

P.A.L. EQUIPMENT STOLEN

Five soccer balls and a soccer net belonging to the San Jose Police Athletic League were taken from a car sometime Saturday night as it was parked in front of 280 Llewellyn st., according to police reports.

The sports equipment in the care of N.A.S.A. engineer George L. Shillenger, was valued at $57. The auto burglary is being investigated by the detective division.

THE PERILS OF C.B.

In addition to several citizen band radio thefts every week in Campbell, another hazard to C.B. owners was brought to light recently when a local man reported that his home was broken into, possibly by a C.B. user who monitored his call for traffic information as he was leaving on vacation.

Police report the Campbell family's storage shed was entered sometime between Sept. 4 and 7 while they were vacationing, and a chain saw and six fishing poles, valued at $409, were taken.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY FOILED

A 19-year-old Campbell woman was booked into Elmwood Detention Facility for Women Thursday for attempted robbery of a Woodside salesman who had given her a lift as she was hitchhiking on Campbell avenue.

According to police, the woman said: "I have a gun, give me your money." The alleged victim grabbed her arm and drove into a service station at Campbell and Winchester where he placed her under citizen's arrest while waiting for the police to respond to his call.

At first denying the attempted robbery, the woman later told police she needed the money for an apartment because her mother no longer wanted her living at home.

DON'T EAT AND RUN

The owner of a local Mexican restaurant took two suspects into custody last week, after their party of four who had been dining at the restaurant's terrace left without paying their $25.53 bill, according to police.

A 24-year-old transient male was caught after the restaurant owner chased him through a shopping center complex and one of his companions, a 21-year-old Saratoga woman, was apprehended when she returned to the scene of the incident to locate him.

The man was booked into the county jail for defrauding an innkeeper, and the woman was taken to Elmwood Detention Facility for Women on the same charges, in addition to assault and battery on the restaurant owner and a waitress when she resisted the citizen's arrest.

DROWNING VICTIM IDENTIFIED

A man pulled from the Los Gatos Creek last week after an apparent drowning has been identified as Michael Orval Madena, 23, a resident of a local board and care home.

Missing since about 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 5, when he reportedly asked several other residents if they wanted to go swimming, Madena was found Monday morning by a fisherman who notified the police. He was identified by his mother Wednesday after she read about the unidentified drowning victim in the newpaper.

The county coroner, who ruled the case an accident, reported Madena drowned while swimming.

PASSENGER INJURED

Marilyn Sharps, of 2348 San Tomas Aquino road, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, was taken to Kaiser Hospital last week after complaining of head pains received in a collision on San Tomas Expressway.

Robert Leo Sharps' vehicle was struck from behind, police report, as he was stopped for a red light. Driver of the other car, Joseph Phillip Anaya of San Jose, was cited by Police for defective brakes.

BLAZE IN CAMPBELL HOME

An estiamted $17,500 in damages were suffered at the Acomb home, 440 April way last week after a fire gutted the garage and part of the roof.

Investigators believe the fire was caused when gas fumes from a motorcycle in the garage ignited the water hater. Two neighboring homes suffered minor damage in the mishap when the roofs were ignited by sparks from the Acomb home.

Leo Mathis of 426 April way and Linda Hatcher of 438 April way each had a reported $100 in damages.

According to Campbell fire reports the assistance of Brian Floyd, a Central Fire Department volunteer, helped keep the blaze from spreading. Floyd manned a garden hose to quell the flames until local fire fighters arrived on the scene.

MOTORCYCLIST SUFFERS SERIOUS INJURIES

A young San Jose man suffered serious injuries last Wednesday when his motorcycle collided with a car on Winchester boulevard near the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center.

Mark James Lushbrough, 23, was admitted to Los Gatos Community hospital in critical condition following the accident. He suffered head injuries and his ear was severed in the collision. Campbell paramedics placed the ear in a sterile solution and surgeons at the hospital later reattached it.

Monday Lushbrough was reported in stable condition in the intensive care unit of the hospital.

Driver of the car which struck Lushbough, Bob Van der Paardt of Campbell, was not cited.

Books, records sought for annual sale at library

BOOKS AND RECORDS are needed for the semi-annual Friends of the Campbell Library book sale, slated for Saturday, Oct. 2.

According to sale chairman Diane Oswals, donations can be brought to the 70 N. Central ave. library. They will also be picked up if the donor calls the library at 378-8122.

Sale hours this year are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the lower level of the library.

Donated books, records and magazines are used in one of two ways to benefit the library, according to Mrs. Oswald. First, those needed for the library are set aside to be added to the local book collection. The balance is sold at the twice yearly sales with proceeds used to fund library needs and projects.

Recently authorized Friends' purchases included a listening center for the children's wing, more tables and a chalk board for the community room and, the latest funding, a poster collection lending library, typewriter for patron's use, bean bag chairs for the young adult section and $200 towards special events-community programs.

Community help sought

FOREST HILL elementary school in the Campbell Union School District is entering its third year in the state funded Early Childhood Education (ECE) program. One of the goals of ECE is increased community involvement in the educational process.

Volunteers are needed who are willing to give their time and talent to the students in such areas as one-to-one tutoring, special testing help, arts and crafts assistance, speakers on special interests or hobbies and clerical work.

According to volunteer aide coordinator Nancy Wold, no special training is necessary beyond an interest in students' educational needs.

For more volunteer information call Forest Hill school principal Mark Jennings, 378-9533, or Nancy Wold at 379-2388.

Indonesian girl is sponsored by Campbell woman

AN 11-YEAR-OLD Indonesian girl, Aisyah Usman, is being sponsored by Ann Robinson, 831 Gale drive, Campbell, through the impact program of Save the Children Federation, a world-wide child help organization.

September is the month for self-improvement

It's time to sign up for fall classes

DOZENS OF classes are beginning this month for Campbell residents interested in sports, travel, gardening and numerous other topics. Here are a few:

KEEPING FIT

"Active" community services classes offered by West Valley this fall will prepare you for participation sports such as Cross Country Ski Safety, Beginning and Intermediate Golf, Pre-Ski Exercise Clinic, Skiing, and Aquacizes for Women. Also starting in September are Body Conditioning (Hatha Yoga) and Learning to Relax — Body Balance, less active but both will put your muscles in tune with your mind.

To register for these, or any of the other community services classes offered this fall, contact that office, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, 379-9415.

ON THE MOVE

Campbell globetrotters can find some helpful tips on getting the most for their travel dollars by attending a new course, "How to Save Money on Travel," being offered by West Valley College Community Services this fall.

The six-week class, beginning Sept. 23, 7 to 10 p.m., will focus on making the traveler a better-informed consumer. Taught by Bette Sample, guest speakers for the class include representatives of the Royal Cruise Line, TWA, Char-Tours and Kuoni Tours for those interested in worldwide travel services.

For registration information, call the office of Community Services, West Valley College, 379-9415.

CURRENT EVENTS

Campbell senior citizens can keep abreast of government news and actions by taking a free current events class every Tuesday, 10 a.m., at the West Valley Progressive Senior Center, 41 W. Rincon ave., in Campbell.

Taught by Nancy Goodwillie, the course, "Keeping Up With Human Affairs," is also offered at a small fee for people under 65 years of age.

A geography class, taught by Luiza Eisbach, "Exploring History and Geography," offered every Wednesday at 10 a.m., will show movies and slides at every class session.

For more information about these classes, which are offered through the Metropolitan Adult Education Program, call 378-5323.

HOLIDAY MOOD

The Cambrian Community Center's fall and holiday classes for local residents begins Oct. 4 with a variety of recreational classes available to all ages.

Pre-registration is Thursday, Sept. 23, 7 p.m., at Bohnett school, 2275 S. Bascom ave. Registration for all other classes is Saturday, Sept. 25, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Special holiday offerings for children include candlemaking, holiday gifts, Santa's Sweet Tooth, and Elves' Delight. For adults there is a holiday boutique class and a French holiday meal.

Among new classes offered are meditation and relaxation, spinning and dyeing, tropical fish and aquariums, and introduction to modeling for teens. And a class in microwave cooking will demonstrate the use of microwave ovens and contemporary cooking methods.

For information on the full schedule of courses, call 277-2631.

TREE EXPERTISE

Campbell resident Perley Payne has had 30 years experience successfully growing fruit and nut trees in this area — and now he's going to share his expertise.

Payne, farm advisor for the University of California Extension Service, will teach a class in backyard fruit tree growing for the Metropolitan Adult Education Program at Oak Grove High school, 285 Blossom Hill road in San Jose.

The course started Monday but interested students may still register next Monday, Sept. 20, at 7 p.m.

Another popular class offered at the same time at Oak Grove — Mondays at 7 p.m. — is Interior Design, which might interest the woman of the house while her husband is learning all about growing fruit trees. Registration is Sept. 20.

FOR THE ELDERLY

Senior citizens can take advantage of a series of classes arranged through the community services office of West Valley College.

The classes include: Survey of Community Resources for Seniors, 200 Years of American Art, Contemporary Literature, Individualized Physical Education, Creative Stitchery, Survey of Keyboard Music, and Age of Wisdom: Light and Sound Experience Lectures.

Registration is required for each of the classes and may be completed through the community services office, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, telephone 379-9415. The registration fee is waived for all those who hold a Gold Card, which can be obtained through the same office.

KIWANIS TRIMS ROTARY

For the second straight year the Campbell Kiwanis Club has bested the Campbell Rotary Club . . . on the softball field, that is.

In the annual tourney Dick Hardy's triple (he went 5 for 5) led the Kiwanians to a 23 to 15 win over the Rotarians. Winning Pitcher was Phil Baker and Bruce Stevenson hurled the ball for the losers.

Doug Mauri served as Rotary team manager while Pete Edwards headed up the Kiwanis club.

In case you think there's a Kiwanis blitz, Rotary has come up with three wins out of the last five annual contests.

MIRACLE BAND

Some unsung hero(ines) of the gala welcome home festivities for the Campbell Little League All-Stars were the young musicians who offered the musical entertainment for the evening.

Called into service just hours before the plane touched down, the group (dubbed the Miracle Band) had about one hour to practice before marching onto the playing field.

Led by Jeff Pack of Campbell high, the group included Tony Ponzio, Michelle Fortier, Greg Gilman, Paula Fortier and Darlene Torigoe, all of Del Mar high; Sheryl Epperson and Geri Thompson of Campbell high, and Wayne Keeney and Charlie Safford of Campbell junior high. Oh, and Blake Oliver of Del Mar who was on tap to play the souzaphone.

Blake didn't get a chance to perform though because the mouthpiece for the instrument was locked up in the music room.

NEW FRIENDS' OFFICERS

The Friends of the Campbell Library recently held election of officers for the 1976-77 year.

President is Pat Safford and other officers include Diane Oswald, vice president; Peggy Carroll, secretary; Jeanette Nelson, treasurer, and Wilma Belser and Emma Barham, board of directors.

Membership is open to anyone interested in aiding the local library. Regular membership fees are $2 yearly with a 50 cents membership fee for students.

TEACHERS HONORED

Two teachers from Campbell Junior high school have been selected for inclusion in the 1976 edition of Outstanding Leaders in Elementary and Secondary Education.

Roy A. Bosworth of 20386 Chalet lane, Saratoga, a mathematics teacher, and English and typing instructor Carol L. Eason, 1318 Joplin drive, San Jose, along with about 6,000 fellow outstanding teachers from across the nation will be in the annual awards volume. In addition, they are being considered for one of the ten $500 unrestricted grants to be awarded this month to the five elementary and five secondary teachers chosen as the most outstanding in their divisions.

The educators were nominated by their school principal and superintendent for exceptional contributions each has made toward the advancement of education.

SAFETY PRIZE

For the fifth year in succession the 25 employees of County Sanitation District No. 4 have earned an award for their outstanding safety record. The award was presented jointly by the California Association of Sanitation Agencies and State Compensation Insurance fund.

This year the district was given first place in a statewide competition among sanitation agencies for not having any lost time accidents during the year. Previously they had earned two first place and two second place awards.

According ot Glen Geisinger, the district's maintenance superintendent and safety supervisor, employees have avoided any serious accidents by developing and maintaining an aggressive safety program.

One feature of the program is the biweekly issuance of raffle tickets with the paychecks of employees not having any accidents during the pay period. A monthly drawing determines who will receive the raffle prize — a $20 safety bonus.

Seventh-day Adventists part of cancer research

THE MEMBERS OF the Campbell Seventh-day Adventist church are taking part in a research project sponsored by the National Cancer Institute to determine if their lifestyle results in lower risk.

A previous study documented that lung cancer and other cancers known to be associated with smoking and drinking are extremely rare among Seventh-day Adventists, who abstain from smoking and alcoholic beverages.

Approximately $1 million is allocated for this project, which studies lifestyle questionaires. Dorothy Jensen, research team leader for Campbell, is coordinating the collection of questionaires which will be followed up by epidemoiologists at Loma Linda University School of Health in Southern California who will maintain yearly reports of hospitalizations among Campbell Adventists.

A review of the records will then show whether Adventists also have a lower risk of developing the types of cancer and other diseases which are definitely not related to smoking and drinking. Such a finding would suggest that aspects of the Adventists lifestyle may be protective against cancer, and the information reported on the questionnaires will allow researchers to find specifically which aspects of lifestyle tend to influence the risk of cancer.

"We expect a high participation rate among the Seventh-day Adventists in Campbell," said Dorothy Jensen. "We hope that the results of this study will determine ways of preventing not only cancer, but some of the other major diseases such as heart disease."

On reserving a booth at fair

Talented Campbell artists and craftspersons will have the opportunity to display or sell their creations at the annual fall festival, "Art in Action," of the Cambrian Community Center, 2275 S. Bascom ave. in Campbell.

The festival, which will also hold craft demonstrations throughout the day, will be Saturday, Nov. 6, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Those interested in participating should call 377-2631 to reserve a booth.

Mays-Smith wedding set

CINDY MAYS, the daughter of Les and Mary Mays of 170 Friar way in Campbell, recently announced her engagement to Ron Smith. He is the son of Mrs. Clara Smith, of 72 Campbell ave.

A 1975 graduate of Campbell high school, Cindy is presently employed as a secretary at Fairchild electronics. Also a Campbell high school graduate — class of 1971 — Ron is a law enforcement staudent at West Valley College and part-time employee of Fairchild.

The couple have set their wedding date for mid-October at the Saratoga Avenue Baptist Church.

Dignity, sorrow, pride and pleasure — expressions of black artists

By ALETA WATSON

ONE OF THE MOST interesting shows to be hung in this area in recent memory is now on view at San Jose Museum of Art.

Displayed in the main gallery is a fascinating collection of paintings, sculptures and assemblages by black American artists. From the beautifully modeled figures of Sargent Johnson to the powerful prints of Charles White, the show reflects the unique experience of black people in America.

The show has been over a year in the planning. The Santa Clara Valley Black Caucus, which is sponsoring the show with the museum, received a $11,250 grant last year from San Jose to help fund the project. It named Marie Johnson curator for the exhibition.

Johnson is a painter who lived and taught in San Jose for 20 years and now teaches at San Francisco State University. In 1968 she served as consultant for a San Jose State University black arts festival and for a period she ran the Mecca Gallery on Park avenue with her sister.

"TWENTIETH CENTURY Black American Artists" is a very personal survey of contemporary black art, reflecting Johnson's own vision of the black heritage. She selected all of the artists for their historical and aesthetic significance. All except Sargent Johnson, who died nine years ago, she knows personally.

An important exhibit of black artists' work

"We had decided we'd rather show a more limited number of artists and show as many pieces as the space would allow," the curator explained as finishing touches were being put on the show. "For the first one we should bring in the most significant artists we could, artists whose work reflects their experiences as black people in America — at least the roots would be there."

Johnson chose her artists and asked each one to submit eight slides, from which she picked the pieces for the exhibit. Not one refused the honor. Twenty-one artists, including the curator and a young San Jose textile artist, Yasmin Sayyed-Terry, are represented in all.

The artists hail from as far away as New York and Georgia. The works are on loan from collectors and museums all over the country, also.

"Recognition," a small onyx sculpture by Elizabeth Catlett, 1970.

JOHNSON WANDERED among the paintings and sculptures, pointing with pride to the special qualities of this work or that. "It boils down to those artists with whom I feel some affinity," she noted.

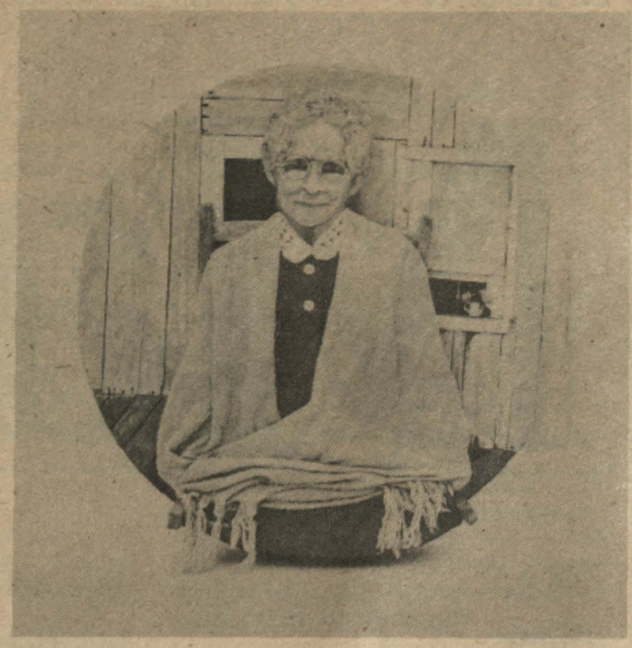
The thread that runs from work to work is an expression of the dignity of black people, pride in their African roots, sorrow for their travails, and pleasure in their accomplishments. Each artist works with that thread in a different manner.

Charles White brings us moving portraits of black people suspended in time, drawn in dark and somber colors. Benjamin Jones gives us colorful tributes to Africa, painted in wild riots of pattern in day-glo colors.

Elizabeth Catlett contributes proud and self-composed sculptures, perfectly balanced and beautifully shaped portraits of a people. Geraldine McCullough exhibits complex copper sculptures which evoke idols and fetishes. Noah Purifoy, founder of the Watts Tower Art Center, shows fetishes and totems assembled from cast-offs and junk heap finds.

From Raymond Saunders come the neon lights and graffiti of Harlem in four huge paintings. From Arthur Carraway come paintings drawing on symbols and characters from ancient black cultures.

THE STORY OF GEORGE BUSH, black pioneer who led a group of settlers to Washington, is the subject of Jacob Lawrence's series of tempera panels, painted in a style merging realism and abstraction. Modern urban living is the subject of Lev Mills' etchings.



"Silver Circle," guest curator Marie Johnson's tribute to her grandmother is a combination of painting and assemblage.

Johnson is represented by several mixed media works in which she combines assembled backgrounds and figures with painted portraits. Most moving is "Silver Circle," a poignant tribute to her grandmother.

Romare Bearden's final study for a collage mural for the Berkeley City Council chambers hangs near the front entrance, showing the contributions of people of all colors to the development of the Bay Area.

It's a fine show, well worth seeing for the aesthetic experience alone. As art, though, it reaches far beyond the surface and probes into the very soul of a people.

Don't miss it.

"Twentieth Century Black American Artists," through Oct. 8 at San Jose Museum of Art, 110 S. Market st., San Jose. Gallery hours Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Sunday, noon to 4 p.m.

The Outlaws invade Concord —a big day for country fans

BY GEORGE MANGRUM

THE OUTLAWS were out in force last week and what a day for country fans.

The Concord Pavilion was the scene of the gathering of Waylon Jennings, Willie Nelson, Jessi Colter and Tompall. It is shows like this for which the pavilion seems made. Sitting in the fresh air and listening to good music was delightful.

The Pavilion had its usual share of sound problems, but it did not impair the talented musicians.

Tompall, known for his recent chauvinistic creation, "Put Another Log On The Fire," began the night's festivities with a pleasurable set.

He was followed by Jessi Colter. She is best known for her hit of last year, "I'm Not Lisa," which the crowd loved. Her new album, "Diamonds In The Rough," contains more material of the same quality. "You Hung The Moon (Didn't You Waylon?)," dedicated to hubby Waylon Jennings, is one of the better cuts and provided a perfect cue for Waylon to join her on stage with a little vocal and guitar work.

The next song, "Suspicious Minds," featured Jessi and Waylon together. It was then time for Jessi to leave and for Waylon to get down to work and grind out some of that good music. During Waylon's hour long, fast moving set, he spoke very little, just concentrating on song after song. His performance in all was much better than his recent Circle Star performance. The vocals were better and he just seemed up for the occasion.

THAT'S what happens when great musicians get together. It is the same when the three "Kings" get together on a blues show. Each performer tries to outdo the last and the audience benefits.

Waylon included "Are You Sure Hank Done It This Way," "Let's All Help The Cowboys Sing The Blues," and "Are You Ready For The Country" in his line-up of tunes. He also sang his latest single, "Can't You See," his version of the Marshall Tucker Band hit.

The back up band was a bit shaky for both Waylon and Jessi. The only outstanding point was steel guitarist Ralph Mooney, who received a standing ovation.

Willie Nelson was the last to take the stage and he had a lot to follow. His gravel voice churned out all of his hits including his most recent, "If You've Got The Money," which is on the top 10 country charts.

Willie's back up band was very strong and suffered successfully through many sound problems.

MORE NEW ALBUMS:

MAHONEY'S LAST STAND by Ron Wood and Ronnie Lane on Atlantic Records. This original motion picture sound track is produced by Glyn Johns who is most known for his work with the Eagles. He is one of today's top producers.

One of the best numbers on the album, "Tonight's Number," features many well known musicians including Kenney Jones on drums, Ian McLagan on piano, Bobby Keys on brass, Jim Price on brass, ex-Faces members Ron Wood on guitar and Ronnie Lane on bass and stars Pete Townshend on lead guitar.

CHICAGO X by Chicago on Columbia Records. This is another classic from the Chicago music machine. "Another Rainy Day In New York City" has already reached stardom off this LP and "If You Leave Me Now" is headed in the same direction.

The rest of the album falls along the same lines and is worthy of the name Chicago.

Performing arts groups seek Valley musicians, thespians

AUDITION TIME IS still with us. The call is out for actors for a community college play, directors for a musical, and musicians for local orchestras.

De Anza College will conduct tryouts for its upcoming production of "The Physicists" Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 21 and 22, at 7 p.m. in the Flint Box Theatre on the Cupertino campus. Scripts are now on reserve in the De Anza learning center. Rehearsals will be held in the evenings and non-students are invited to audition, too.

West Valley Light Opera Association is looking for a director for the West Coast premiere of "Robert and Elizabeth," a musical drama based on the love story of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett, to be staged in January and February. Interested people should send a resume to the association, P.O. Box 779, Los Gatos, 95030, attention Gene Pincus, producer.

Los Gatos-Saratoga Symphony will hold an open rehearsal Monday, Sept. 20 for musicians who would like to be considered when vacancies occur in the orchestra. Strings are especially needed right now. The rehearsal is slated for 7:30 p.m. in the West Valley College music building on the Saratoga campus. For more information, call 255-7422.

Santa Clara Youth Symphony will hold auditions for new members Saturday, Sept. 18, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Community Recreation Center, 969 Kiely boulevard, Santa Clara. Young musicians should prepare a solo of their choice and be ready to sight read and demonstrate technical skills. For further information, call business manager Eleanore Goldfinger at 243-3065.

ROCK NOTES: Biggest news of the week is the upcoming super concert of the Who and the Grateful Dead, Oct. 9-10 at the Oakland Stadium. Tickets are available through mail order only. In case of rain alternate dates will be Oct. 11-12. Good Luck. . . The reopening of Winterland will be Sept. 24-25 with Montrose and Mothers Finest. . . Oct. 3 will find The Band at the Paramount Theatre. That show should be spectacular . . . Manhattan Transfer is in the middle of their stint at the Venetian Room. If you caught their show at the Paramount, you've seen their show. There are few changes. If you didn't see them, try to catch them now . . . The Pointer Sisters will appear at the Venetian Room Sept. 30-Oct. 13 . . . Gordon Lightfoot will be making one of his rare appearances in the Bay Area Oct. 1-3 at the Circle Star Theatre.

Williams preview

Patricia Boyette and Fred Ward star as the brother and sister in both Tennessee Williams' new "The Two Character Play" and his classic "The Glass Menagerie" in a special "2 by Tenn" program closing this weekend at Foothill College. This is the first performance of the new play, which is set to open this fall at the Showcase theatre in San Francisco. Dinner will be served between the plays Friday and Saturday nights. First curtain goes up at 6 p.m. Tickets are $12. Call 948-8490 or 948-4444 for information.

OLD FOLK FEST — Glenn Yarbrough, the Limeliters and The Kingston Trio will combine for a bombardment of nostalgia at its very best in a three night, five performance run at the Circle Star Theatre, San Carlos. Show-times are 8:30 p.m., Friday; 7 and 10:30 p.m., Saturday, and 4:30 and 8 p.m., Sunday. Tickets are available at BASS outlets and the Circle Star box office (415 364-2550).

TENNESSEE WILLIAMS PREVIEW — Preview performances of Tennessee Williams' new "Two-Character Play" will be presented in the band room of Foothill College, Los Altos Hills. The new work will be preceded by Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" at 6 p.m. Tickets are priced at $12 and include dinner between the two performances. For information call 948-8590 or 948-4444.

'Tunnel Vision' – boobs on the tube

By MARGIE HYDE

"TUNNEL VISION," Hollywood's latest spoof of commercial television, is a scattergun assault on the media, hitting everyone and everything without discrimination.

It purports to follow a 1985 congressional hearing on Tunnel Vision, a completely uncensored network which has been broadcasting for a year on a trial basis. Capsule versions of the programming, which opponents claim has led to high crime rates and assorted ills of society, make up the major portion of the film's footage.

There are some very funny jokes among the jabs at commercials, programs, public service announcements and even behind-the-scenes program decision-making. Unfortunately, nearly all are at the expense of some minority group — especially gays and Polish people.

I AM NOT OFFENDED by nudity or the free use of the old "forbidden" words, both of which are liberally used in this movie. But I am offended by words like "spic," "nigger," and "fag" and I am offended by visual stereotypes such as the one which depicted Spanish-speaking people as unclean drunks and pill-poppers. Unfortunately, these words and these kinds of stereotypes are the basis for much of the "humor" this movie rests on.

A number of people make short guest appearances. Roger Bowen does a funny impression of Henry Kissinger. Rick Hurst of "On the Rocks" demonstrates a ray gun which silences people for several minutes (he could have turned it on this film several times). And Chevy Chase of NBC's "Saturday Night Live" makes a brief appearance. All the guest appearances are so brief, however, that they're wasted. Anyone could have handled the bits.

Tunnel Vision has an R rating, although an X might have been more appropriate. It's definitely not a movie for children or the highly impressionable.

'The Gondoliers'

British humor in an Italian setting returns to the Montgomery Theatre in San Jose this weekend with the local Gilbert and Sullivan Society's production of "The Gondoliers." Gladie Tuscher and Ory Eshelman clown around with a long string of spaghetti to draw attention to the Friday and Saturday evening performances at 8 p.m. and Sunday matinee at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are available at Macy's and San Jose box office.

Disney film festival in Sunnyvale

DISNEY FANS, rejoice. Sunnyvale will hold a Disney Film Festival at its Performing Arts Center, 550 E. Remington drive, Saturday at 7:30 p.m. To be screened are two Disney features, "Robin Hood" and "Peter and the Wolf," and two documentaries, "Behind the Scenes at the Disney Studio" and "Milestones in Animation."

To add spice to the festival, Sunnyvale Disney fan Tony Anselmo will display his lifetime collection of Disney memorabilia and pictures in the lobby.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

EASY-LIFT
Chairs That Lend a Helping Hand.

Many people — senior citizens, arthritics, stroke-patients, and those with MS or MD or Parkinson's disease, need help getting in and out of a chair. The power cushion in both the EASY-LIFT Stratolounger® Recliner and companion straight-back Economy model gently lift you forward and up to a semi-standing position. Lifting angle adjusts to fit your needs. Controls are easy to reach, and both models run on household current.

Lecture series on opera at WVC

IF YOU'VE shied away from opera because you don't understand them, West Valley College is offering a unique opportunity to hear guest lecturers orient you to the opera experience.

The San Jose Opera Guild, in cooperation with West Valley's Interdisciplinary Studies program (IS-90) and Community Services office, brings to you the daytime fall series. The lectures, with musical presentations of opera performed by the San Francisco Opera, are available to both currently registered students and community members through the IS-90 program.

All lectures will include graphical information about the composer and historical background as well as synopsis of the opera.

The first in the series, held Friday, Sept. 10, was a study of "Thais" by Massenet.

"Tosca" by Puccini with James Schwabucher will be held on Sept. 24, also a Friday. On Thursday, Oct. 7, Dr. Jan Popper will lecture on "Peter Grimes" by Britten. The series concludes with Dr. Dale Harris and "The Makropulos Case," on Friday, Oct. 22.

Anyone interested may enroll for credit in the IS-90 program through the college's office of admissions and records or purchase tickets at $1 each through the community services office, 44 E. Latimer ave., Campbell, 379-9415. For further information call the college at 867-2200, ext. 407 or 363.

Summer 1977 wedding for Kroening-Wehr couple

CECIL AND JOYCE Kroening have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen to Steven Wehr of Cupertino.

Karen, a graduate of Campbell high school, is majoring in retailing at West Valley College and is employed by a woman's clothing store.

Steven, son of Vickie Wehr of Cupertino and John Wehr of Texas, is a Del Mar high school graduate and works for a local electronic firm.

The couple plans to wed in the summer of 1977.

Steven Wehr and Karen Kroening will wed next summer.

MRS. MICHAEL FILICE, Mrs. Stephen Flores and Mrs. Ronald Colla model some of the fashions to be shown at the Ladies of Charity Junior Auxiliary benefit party Sept. 18. Proceeds will go to St. Elizabeth's Day Home for supplies and educational materials. The benefit, titled "Overtime at the Factory" will take place at the Factory in Campbell, starting at 6 p.m. with cocktails, a fashion show featuring Bullock's fall line, and a dinner dance. Senator and Mrs. Jerry Smith of Saratoga will be among those modeling in the fashion show. Tickets must be purchased in advance. For information, call Mrs. Tom McEnery at 298-3885.

Christian Business Women

The public is invited to a dessert of the Christian Business and Professional Women Monday, Sept. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Menu Tree, Birds' Attic in the San Antonio Shopping Center, Mountain View. Music for the event will be provided by the Salt Company, a youth group under the direction of Joe Scofield and Isabele Roberts will discuss "The Greatest Love Story Ever Told." A special feature will be a facial demonstration of Lovue skin-care products by Jackie Johnson. Reservations must be made before Thursday, Sept. 16 by calling 252-8456 or 969-0443. There is a $2 fee.

Genealogical Society

The regular monthly meeting of the Santa Clara county group is Thursday, Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Santa Clara city library, 2635 Homestead road. "Tracing Your Family History in Pennsylvania, Researching-Sources-Pitfalls" will be presented by Mr. George Patterson, a long time member and past president. Guests are welcome and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Orchard City Grange

The Grange's monthly card party, which is open to the public, is at 8 p.m., Sept. 24, in the Grange Hall at 198 N. First st. in Campbell. A 75 cent donation provides games, prizes and refreshments.

Gem Show

Beverly and Frederick Eade, members of the Campbell Gem and Mineral Guild, have entered their collection of minerals in "Gemstone Bonanza," the gem and mineral show at The Monterey County Fair, Sept. 25 and 26. The show will feature working demonstrations in the making of arrowheads, gem faceting and handwrought silver engraving. Special exhibits include handcrafted jewelry, Japanese suiseki, a geode waterfall, a fossil display, indian baskets of pine needles, and a display of thumbnail minerals.

Garden Club Fashions

"Two Hundred years of White House Fashion, Flowers and Melody: 1776-1976," a fashion show and high tea sponsored by the San Jose Garden Club, features authentic period gowns — from Abigail Adams to Tricia Nixon — with a narration of contemporary mores, manners and melodies of each era.

The show is 1 p.m., Sept. 22, at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, 1710 Moorpark at Leigh, in San Jose. Tickets are $4 each and reservations can be made by calling 578-5585 or 238-2791.

BART extension to south bay not a likely prospect

EXTENDING BART to San Jose is no longer an alternative for solving the current commute problem, the Metropolitan Transportation Commission has decided.

A subcommittee has been studying commuter needs between San Jose and San Francisco. They came up with a list of seven alternatives, then voted to eliminate three.

What they eliminated was the idea of extending BART to San Jose from Daly City; of extending BART to Menlo Park or Redwood City and linking it to a light rail system in San Jose; and of a bus system along Highways 280 and 101.

Still under consideration are several combinations of the present Southern Pacific Rail service and a bus system. MTC is also studying BART service to San Francisco airport from Daly City and whether to extend BART to Millbrae, where it would be met by a rapid transit system from San Jose.

Special video presentations are at noon, 1 and 2 p.m. at the TM center, 3920 Williams road, near the San Tomas Expressway. The evening celebration, from 7 to 9:30 p.m., is at Los Gatos Lodge, 50 Saratoga ave. and includes musical entertainment, award presentations and refreshments.

Campbell FFA, 4-H join fair prize winners

SEVERAL MORE Campbell residents have walked away with blue ribbons from the county fair.

For Future Farmers of America, Ken Fowler of Camden-Leigh-Branham won a blue, a red, and a yellow ribbon for his rabbits and Bob Ross of Campbell took a blue in rabbits. Mike Phillips of Campbell-Westmont-Prospect came away with four firsts for pigeons and Richard Baker of Camden-Leigh-Branham took four ribbons, one blue.

Camden-Leigh-Branham prize winners for beef cattle are Richard Baker, Ken Fowler, Randy Howland, Teri Qualis and Kirk Rattenne. Ken Fowler won for horses.

Campbell-Westmont-Prospect future farmers taking awards were Tyana Chroust for horses, Mark Tanksley and Bob Ross for poultry and Matt Hope for dairy cattle. Beef Cattle ribbons went to Tyana Chroust, Cindy Frisk, Scott Grindstaff, John Lopes, Paul Lowe, Marc McKay, Robert Ross, Kalani Scarborough, Terry Sheahan, Brian Rogers and Sue Woodhouse.

CAMPBELL 4-H Club members also did well in the closing days of the county fair.

Steven Reith of Campbell took a first in sheep and wool, and several other first place blue ribbons went to Buena Suerte and El Serano 4-H'ers in the foods and nutrition section.

In the Buena Suerte club, three blues went to Mark Collison, Pamela Ross, Alan Siggers, and Cindy Singleton. Two First place awards went to Kelli Dever, Derrie Gossner, Chip Siggers, and Kim Siggers. Blue ribbons also were won by Marilyn Beck, JoAnn Gossner, Mary Peddy, Cara Ross and Kristine Thorpe; and Arleen Willi took a red ribbon.

El Sereno 4-Hers also winning in the foods and nutrition section are Julie Hanson, Leah Shulze and Keli Stanton — all taking three blue ribbons. Two first places went to Gail Greene, Debra Johnson, Dorwayne Johnson and Cheryll Smith; and Laura McEwin went home with one blue, one red and one white.

Father, son and daughter

Family programs featured in fall YMCA line-up

THE NEW FALL YMCA programs for father/son and father/daughter groups are having organizational meetings this month, all starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Y-Indian Guide program, for kindergartners through third grade boys and their dads, fosters companionship and enhances the number of things that fathers and sons can do together. Information and sign-ups are set for Wednesday, Sept. 22, at Rosemary school; Thursday, Sept. 23, at Lynhaven school; Tuesday, Sept. 28, at Forest Hills school, and Thursday, Sept. 30, at Hazelwood school.

The Y-Indian Princess program for girls and their dads has the same goals as the Y-Indian Guides and both groups will work with crafts, games, camping and Indian lore study. Princess sign-ups are Tuesday, Sept. 21, at Hazelwood school; Thursday, Sept. 23, at Dover school, and Thursday, Sept. 30, at Lynhaven school.

YMCA club programs are also offered to boys and girls in grades four through six. The Gra-Y club for boys offers such activities as sports leagues, special events, camping and educational and service projects. The informational meeting and sign-up is Tuesday, Sept. 22, at Castlemont school.

The father and daughter (FAD) group is new to the program this year. It allows the closer family relationship to continue after the Y-Indian Princess group, and offers activities involving family events to enhance the understanding and companionship between father and daughter. Organizational meetings are set for Wednesday, Sept. 22, and Thursday, Sept. 23, at Southwest YMCA, 16500 Mozart ave. in Los Gatos.

For more information contact YMCA program director Steve Mott, 356-7126.

TONY BRAVO shows off the blue ribbon sweepstakes award for best of show won by the Campbell Grange for bicentennial theme displaying the Santa Clara Valley melting pot. The scene depicts an actual water wheel beside an early settler's barn. Also displayed are Indian herbs, produce, a replica of Mission San Jose, and a pot surrounded by little people representing those who came into the valley. The buildings shown are schools, churches, canneries, a packing house and homes built by valley farmers during the years of Santa Clara county's growth as a major food producing area. Bravo, director of the Grange's exhibit, was assisted by Helen Bohn, of the Grange, who wrote up his play.

I'VE GOT NOTHING to prove — my record speaks for itself! When it comes to predicting high school football champions in the pre-season, even the magical Kreskin, complete with his ESP, would have to take a backseat to the "Wizard of Sparrer".

And the Wizard is back for another year — it's time to name the high school football champions for 1976.

Now, I'm not going to twist any arms, it's not my style. No one has to believe it, but I'm perfect this season. I know who's going to win the Mt. Hamilton, West Valley and Santa Teresa Athletic League championships — there's no doubt about it!

My record is ominous (four correct title picks in 15 tries over a five year span . . . ominous?). I'm batting a cool .267 in picking the champs — eat your heart out Bobby Murcer. And three correct picks this year would up that average to .389 . . . I get chills just thinking about it!

Well, it's a tough job — all three leagues look good this year. But here goes.

THE MT. HAMILTON Athletic League could figure as one of the most rugged and well balanced leagues in the Central Coast Section this fall.

As many as seven clubs feel they have the potential to contend for the league title in the MHAL and it should make for a very interesting championship race.

Defending champion Santa Teresa, Piedmont Hills, Yerba Buena, Oak Grove, Andrew Hill, James Lick and Samuel Ayer all will send stronger teams, or at least comparable teams, to the field this year compared to the club's they had last year.

And judging by the rosters, all of those coaches just may be right.

But only one club can come up a winner, right — wrong! In the MHAL's round minus-one, two teams could possibly finish the year with perfect records.

Well, in 1976 it's not going to happen, though. Just as it was in 1975, it will be Rich Campbell and the Santa Teresa Saints all the way. It looks like Yerba Buena is a strong bet to nab second.

OVER IN THE WEST Valley Athletic League there's good balance too. The WVAL was balanced last season, but with Saratoga moving on to the De Anza Athletic League, the West Valley race could turn into a real dogfight.

Los Gatos won all the marbles in the WVAL parade last fall and looks to be the team to beat again this season.

But just as it has many times in the past, it just could go down to Thanksgiving Day in the WVAL when Los Gatos tackles Campbell in the annual Turkey Day clash.

The two clubs are definite contenders for the league crown along with Camden, which claims to have its best crop of football players in years.

The Wildcats will have a fight on their hands, but it looks like Bob Skuse will lead Los Gatos to a second consecutive WVAL title.

THE SANTA TERESA Athletic League is the tough one to predict this year. Leland is always tough but there's a new kid on the block in the STAL this fall — Gunderson.

Gunderson picked up some mighty fine football players from both Pioneer and Leland and will be strong contender for the title. Contender is generally not the handle hooked to a rookie school!

Leland and Gunderson will both field tough football teams this fall, and Lincoln could figure in the title race as a dark horse.

But I'm going to go out on a limb and pick that first year school — Gunderson — to come away with the league title in its inaugural season.

That's how it stacks up for the 1976 season. Santa Teresa, Los Gatos and Gunderson will come out on top in November. The Wizard has spoken!

Grid predictors set for 1976 prep season openers

THE HELMETS are out of the storeroom, the tape is out of the closet and the pads are popping on the practice field again.

Yes, it's that time of the year — high school football season.

And with the return of high school football season comes the return of the high school football forecasters — the fearless pre-game prognosticators!

The teams of the West Valley and Santa Teresa Athletic Leagues are getting ready to kick-off the 1976 football season this weekend so that means it's time for the prep predictors to begin their season.

The West Valley Athletic League will open the season with a pair of Jamborees. Leigh, Branham, Camden, Los Gatos and Del Mar will clash in a Jamboree at Leigh on Saturday, Sept. 18, at 11 a.m. and Campbell, Blackford, Prospect and Westmont will meet at the same time at Westmont. So picking winners in the WVAL is still a week away.

BUT IN THE STAL the time is now for the seers to pick the teams they feel will win this weekend.

Lincoln will be the first STAL team to take to the field when the Lions visit Cupertino for an 8 p.m. game Thursday. The Lions will come home six point winners.

In Friday games on Sept. 17, San Jose will fall to Oak Grove at the PAL Field at 7:30 p.m. by 14, Willow Glen will nip Santa Clara by three at Santa Clara at 7:30 p.m. and Gilroy will beat Palma of Salinas by six at home at 8 p.m.

On Saturday night Gunderson will visit Buchser at 8 p.m., Leland meets Saratoga at Los Gatos at 8 p.m., Pioneer battles Overfelt at PAL at 7:30 p.m. and Live Oak heads to Pacific Grove at 8 p.m.

Gunderson will stop Buchser by four, Leland will fall to Saratoga by six, Pioneer will drop a two point decision to Overfelt and Live Oak will take PG by 10.

Bauer tops WVC list of lettermen

STEVE BAUER TOPS a list of 11 West Valley College football players competing at four year schools after finishing their junior college careers.

Bauer (Los Gatos), a linebacker, is a member of the University of Washington varsity this fall. Bauer was an All-Golden Gate Conference performer for WVC in 1975 and was also picked as a backer on the Community College Consensus All-America football team.

Other members of the 1975 Viking grid squad moving on to four year school competition are Steve Mills (Leland), the University of Idaho; Tom Sipiora (Mitty), Boise State; Kit Brady (Leigh), Ross McCammon (Prospect) and Ryan Wendel (Leigh), the University of Pacific; Gary Spicer (Bellarmine), Hayward State University; Ken Bell (Branham), Long Beach State; Kit Lathrop (Leigh), Arizona State; and Steve Syth and John Hamm, Humbolt State.

Gary Mulch, a member of the 1974 West Valley squad, is also currently playing at Humbolt.

WVAL gridders open '76 year with Jamborees

ALL OF THE football teams in the West Valley Athletic League open their 1976 seasons this weekend.

They all open on Saturday and they all open at 11 a.m. But all of the teams will be in competition on just two different fields!

How's that possible? Well, the teams of the WVAL are holding a Jamboree — or rather, two Jamborees. The West Valley League will kick off the 1976 campaign with its second annual football Jamboree.

With Highway 17 as the divider, the teams of the WVAL will break into two divisions for the season opening event.

Leigh, Los Gatos, Del Mar, Branham and Camden, will battle it out Saturday at the Leigh high school field and Campbell, Prospect, Blackford and Westmont will fight it out Saturday on the Warrior turf.

THE FIVE TEAMS at Leigh will each play four 10 minute football periods against each other and the four clubs at Westmont will play three 13 minute quarters.

The team that scores the most points after playing each of the other squads in the event for a quarter will be determined the winner. Points will be awarded as they would in any other football game, except that teams will receive an additional point for every first down recorded.

Jamboree tickets will be available at the gates at each school on Saturday or can be purchased in advance at the Leigh or Westmont activities offices. Ticket prices are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for student body card holders and children under 12.

WVC set defensive test in opener

There's a good chance that when the West Valley College Vikings and the Butte College Roadrunners get together for their Saturday afternoon football game this weekend that the two defensive units will prevail.

The two junior college football teams boast strong defensive squads heading into the 1976 campaign and both face offensive question marks.

For West Valley, it's a young and untested offensive line that has coach John Nicholas wondering about his teams' 1976 future. And for Butte, it's an inexperienced offensive backfield that poses the biggest question.

Nicholas' line will get its first test this weekend when the Vikings take on Butte in Oroville in the WVC season opener.

And what a test it will be. Butte has a defensive unit anchored by eight returning starters. Tackle Mark Heaslip is a 220 pound returning all-leaguer on the Roadrunner defensive wall and Al Bennett is an all-conference defensive back returning for his sophomore season.

But the Viking defense also should put on a good show Saturday with all-league returner Pat Geary (Los Gatos) leading the WVC charge at linebacker.

The Vikings were number one in Northern California defensively last year and have set a goal to match that in 1976. West Valley will start nine lettermen on the defensive side Saturday in hopes of getting a good start towards just that goal.

West Valley will have its hands full with Butte. The Roadrunners are ranked eighth in the state in the small school division in the pre-season and are picked to finish second in the Golden Valley Conference. Butte finished second in the conference last year with a 5-1 record, 6-4 overall.

Alen Aiello leads the Roadrunners from his quarterback post and tops a list of 19 returning lettermen at the school.

Butte will have a slight edge in the game since the bout with West Valley will be its second contest of the year. The Roadrunners opened the season last Saturday at home against Cosumnes River.

Steve Hosmer (Los Gatos), the Viking signal-caller, will lead West Valley against Butte. Hosmer, fighting Jeff Beeson (Leigh) for the starting quarterback spot at Valley, tossed for 843 yards last year.

Hosmer will be throwing to top receivers in Ed Buller (Leland), Wade Fernside (Del Mar) and Don Stillwell (Westmont) and Dan Haniger, Dwight Perkins (Saratoga), Rich Orlando (Branham), Vic Druhan (Leigh) and Marty King (Bellarmine) should do most of the ball toting.

Giants appreciate fans

The San Francisco Giants will hold their annual Fan Appreciation Day Sunday, Sept. 26, when they host the Houston Astros in a 1:05 p.m. contest. Prizes totalling thousands of dollars will be given away to lucky fans that day.

Regional champs off to Nationals

Barons win trip to Allentown, Penn.!

By DICK SPARRER
Sports Editor

THERE ARE QUITE a few places across the United States a person could visit to spend a very pleasant vacation. There's Honolulu, Hawaii, or New York, N.Y., or Washington, D.C., just to name a few.

But when mentioning the top vacation spots across the USA. Allentown, Pa., doesn't even rate a whisper.

However, that's exactly where a group of Santa Clara county residents are headed this week — and they're thrilled to death to get there.

Because Allentown, Pa., is the site of the 1976 Amateur Softball Association's men's open fast pitch softball championships. And the group of county residents, the LeBlanc Barons, had to work mighty hard to get there!

The Barons won the Northern Pacific Regional championship to win a spot in the National tournament and gain the trip the Allentown.

The Barons left last Thursday to join the greatest amateur softball teams that America has to offer for the National tournament in Pennsylvania. The tournament was scheduled to open on Friday, Sept. 10, and run through Friday, Sept. 17.

WITH THREE wins already under their belts in as many games, the Barons went into the final weekend of the regional tournament in the favorite's role. And the LeBlanc nine didn't disappoint any of the Baron fans with a pair of victories on Labor Day weekend to gain the title.

The Barons nipped Dave Abel of Modesto 1-0 in the winner's bracket finale to move into the championship game.

Unbeaten in the double-elimination tournament, the Barons would have had to lose twice in the championship round to be eliminated. But the Barons were to have none of that — they knocked off one time National champion Guanella Bros. of Santa Rosa 3-2 to claim the championship and the berth in the Nationals.

Rich Hull tossed a six hitter to get the win in the tournament ender but needed a dramatic, seventh inning home run from Glen Beamon to put the lid on the victory.

The game was tied 2-2 heading into the last of the seventh before Beamon, the Baron lead-off hitter for the game and the inning, slapped the second pitch to him over the fence in dead center field to bring an abrupt end to the ballgame and make Hull a 3-2 winner.

Guanella scored first in the game with a run in the third but the Barons tied it in the fourth. Bill Leffler doubled and Ron Benevidez plated Leffler's pinch runner with the first LeBlanc run on a ground ball.

The Barons went up 2-1 in the sixth. Jim Visher singled, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Terry Ray and scored on a single by Albie Steenvohor.

Guanella tied the count at 2-2 thanks to a homer in the top half of the seventh, but that just set the stage for Beamon's last inning heroics.

THE BARONS topped Dave Abel 1-0 in the semi-finals. Guy French whirled a three hit shut-out to take LeBlanc to the victory and the Barons made a single third inning run stand up for the win.

Benevidez singled to right and moved to second on a passed ball before Chuck Caldera slapped a solid ground ball single to right to plate the game winner.

The Barons were 5-0 in the three weekend regional event in Santa Rosa. LeBlancs opened with a 3-0 win over Guanella before stopping Fresno 6-0. The Barons blanked the Sacramento 76ers 3-0 before posting their fourth straight shutout against Abel.

Hull was 3-0 in the tourney for the Barons, tossing a pair of shut-outs and allowing just 10 hits in 21 innings. He recorded a brilliant earned run average of 0.66.

French was 2-0 in the event, giving up just four hits in 11 frames and posting a perfect 0.00 era. Caldera tossed three shutout innings for the champs.

The Barons, one of two California teams in the National tournament, will be no strangers to National competition. The club finished second to the Clearwater Bombers in 1973 when the National tourney was held in Seattle, Washington.

Guanella Bros. won the National crown in 1974 in Clearwater, Florida, and the Rising Sun Hotel of Reading, Pa., won last year's title in Hayward.

Campbell-Moreland election set for '77

Campbell-Moreland Pony-Colt League will conduct election of officers for the 1977 baseball season on Tuesday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Morgan Park Pony clubhouse.

Board positions to be filled are: League president, Pony vice president, Colt vice president; executive secretary, player agent, treasurer, and two at-large memberships.

Westmont hosts WVAL jamboree

Question marks surround Warrior grid hopes in '76

"We're going to take one game at a time. And if we have no injuries, particularly in the line, we'll be alright."

Westmont head football coach Don Stagnaro was predicting neither a league championship, nor a last place finish for his Warriors when asked where his club would finish in the West Valley Athletic League. The reason for Stagnaro's conservative answer was simple — there are just too many question marks surrounding his Warriors to try and predict where they might wind up in relationship to the other eight teams in the WVAL.

"We have good people at the skill positions," Stagnaro said. "But we have no depth, particularly in the line."

Unquestionably the Warriors have some excellent players returning to the high school grid ranks this season.

Rocky Pena, an all-league receiver as a junior last year, will return to his split end spot. But quarterback Ben Skarmas, who teammed with Pena to give the Warriors one of the best passing games in the area last year, has graduated.

Eric Stark, a second team all-league running back last year, also returns. But more pressure will be on him due to the absence of his outstanding running mate, Jeff Van Amburg, who also graduated.

Despite the graduations of Skarmas and Van Amburg, Stagnaro expects the Warriors offense to be the "strongest point of the team."

Randy Scacutto is slated to step into Skarmas' starting role at quarterback with Mike Adams serving capably as his back-up.

Returning lettermen Stark, Greg Athearn and Jeff Rhodes, in addition to transfer Marc Kahn, figure to battle for the starting running back spots.

Pena heads a fine crop of receivers that includes Steve Nuich, Craig Scadden, Mark Kurtz and Dave Webster.

The Warriors offensive line also looks strong. Shane Truan (5'10", 200 pounds) will be at center with Bob Cooney (6', 230) backing him up. Pat Riley (5'10", 175) will handle one guard spot while Alan Nobriga (6', 195), Chris Brown (5'8", 180) and Matt Heath (5'9", 165) battle for the second. Mike O'Day (6', 220) and Rick Alvear (5'10", 180) have the inside tracks on Jim Pappa (6'4", 235) and Dave Martinez (6',200) for the starting tackle berths. The tightend job is up for grabs between Shawn Hurt (6',215) and Eric Johnson (6'4", 180).

While the Warrior offense is fairly well set, the defense is not.

"We will be in a multiple set with a four deep secondary," is all that Stagnaro will say. "The personnel on defense is fairly open to date."

While Stagnaro, beginning his seventh year as the Warriors' boss, wouldn't hazard a guess as to where his club would finish, he did tab Los Gatos as the team to beat again this year.

Stagnaro will be assisted this year by Mike Jones (who will work with the receivers), Glen Massengale (backs), Rick Perry (defensive backs), Frank Marotti (defensive line) and Mike Ruiz (line).

Westmont opens its season Saturday at home in one of the WVAL's two jamborees. The jamboree starts at 11 a.m.

Westmont then opens its regular season Friday, Sept. 24, with a non-league game against Willow Glen at PAL Stadium. The contest is slated to start at 7:30 p.m.

The Warriors open their WVAL schedule the following week against Los Gatos on Friday, Oct. 1, at Westmont. Game time is 3:30 p.m.

C-M Winter Pony League sets enrollment record

Just when it appears the youth baseball season has been officially tucked away, 91 boys filed into the Morgan Park baseball clubhouse to sign up for the Campbell-Moreland Winter Pony League, which launches play Saturday.

This is the highest winter enrollment in the six-year history of the league — which means Campbell will enter seven teams, two more than it fielded a year ago. The seven teams will compete in a 12-team traveling league, which also includes teams from Los Gatos, Westside and Cambrian.

The winter program accommodates only those boys who, by age, will be eligible to play Pony baseball next summer.

Part of the league's popularity can be attributed to the philosophy of the program — that is, to provide incoming Little League graduates an opportunity to gain head-start experience and Pony holdovers the kind of additional playing experience which should make their final year in the program more satisfying.

The program has adopted such "appropriate" rules as no summer league manager can manage his players in the winter league (thus removing the temptation to be bias); no pitcher can throw more than 50 pitches or three innings, whichever comes first; every boy must play at least a half a game and if he doesn't start one game, he must start the next; and to further emphasis the "learning" factor of the program, there are no standings and no awards.

Another unique element about the winter league is that there are no team practices allowed once the league begins. To compensate, however, the managers will conduct weekly drills prior to all home games.

In addition, "open house" optional clinics will be held every Wednesday at 4 p.m. with members of all seven teams invited to attend. The key word here is "invited," as no boy is required to be present. The seven managers will conduct the clinics on a rotating basis and attention will be given to those areas of baseball which the individual boy requests.

The Campbell's seven managers include Dick Bloyd, Mo Okamoto, Bill Allen, Chuck Feick, Al Gutierrez, Joe Tema and Bud Stallings.

Sunbirds meet Falcons in WPSL's first World Series

By DAVE MENDONCA

ALL SEASON LONG the San Jose Sunbirds have been considered the second best team in the Women's Professional Softball League. Everyone, outside the Sunbird organization, regarded Joan Joyce's Connecticut Falcons as the league's best.

But the Sunbirds will get their chance to erase those opinions when they meet the East division champion Falcons in the WPSL's first World Series.

The World Series starts Friday evening in Meridan, Connecticut. After playing games two and three in Connecticut also, the remaining four games, if necessary, will be played in San Jose.

Game four in San Jose has been slated for Thursday, Sept. 23. Games five through seven would be played in the next three days.

Tickets to the Series can be purchased at all BASS outlets, Macy's, Emporium and Fontanetti's Sporting Goods stores, Top Hat Tickets, the San Jose Box Office and the Sunbirds' office, located at 231 O'Connor dr. in San Jose. For further ticket information call 287-0900.

THE SUNBIRDS earned the right to meet the Falcons in the World Series last week by defeating Santa Ana three games to none in their best-of-five West division play-off series.

The Falcons also swept their East division play-off series with the Chicago Ravens in three games to earn a spot in the World Series.

In much the same way that the Sunbirds took a backseat to the Falcons publicity wise during the season, Bonnie Johnson was regarded as the Sunbirds' number two pitcher behind Charlotte Graham at the start of the season.

But Johnson turned out to be the ace of the staff in 1976, recording better statistics than Graham in every category but strike outs.

And Johnson maintained her new image as of ace of the Sunbird staff by tossing a pair of 1-0 wins over the Lionettes, outdueling 38 game winner Cathy Benedetto both times.

JOHNSON, MASTER of the off-speed and breaking ball pitches, had to go 18 innings to win the play-off opener and then clinched San Jose's berth in the World Series last Sunday evening with a four-hit performance.

Marathon contests are no strangers to Johnson, who beat the highly acclaimed Rosie Black 1-0 in 20 innings and Benedetto 2-1 in 18 innings during the regular season.

Brenda Gamblin's line drive single to right-centerfield with two out in the bottom of the 18th scored Cyndi Lillock from third with the winning run in the West division opener under the lights of San Jose Municipal Stadium.

Lillock had led-off the frame with a single to left, her first hit in six at bats. A perfect Diane Kalliam bunt moved Lillock to second and an Allie Henderson ground out moved her to third.

Gamblin, who led the Sunbirds' in runs-batted-in during the regular season, then lashed her game winning hit over Gail Hamilton's outstretched glove at second.

Gamblin had gone hitless in her first seven trips to the plate before breaking up the near four hour contest.

JOHNSON, AS ALWAYS, was magnificent. The Sunbirds' 25 game winner set down the first 14 batters she faced before Donna Maga singled to left with two outs in the fifth. Johnson wound up with a seven-hitter, stranding 11 Lionettes on base over the course of the evening. She struck out a personal season high of 12, including six in a row during one stretch early in the game.

Benedetto didn't pitch a bad game either, limiting the hard hitting 'Birds to just eight hits on the night.

San Jose took a commanding two game lead the next night by nipping the Lionettes 2-1 as Graham outdueled Carol Spanks.

Graham, who lost her bid for a shut-out with two outs in the ninth, scattered eight hits and fanned seven for the win.

San Jose got on the scoreboaard first when Diane Kalliam opened the initial inning with a walk. After Henderson sacrificed Kalliam to second, Gamblin brought the San Jose superstar home with a bloop double down the rightfield line.

GAMBLIN ALSO DROVE in the eventual game winning run in the fifth. Lillock led off the decisive frame with a single to left and moved to second on a bunt single by Kalliam. Henderson moved the runners up to second and third with a sacrifice and Lillock scampered home on a grounder to the right side by Gamblin.

Santa Ana finally snapped its scoreless streak against San Jose pitching at 26 consecutive innings by pushing across a run in the ninth.

With one out Debbie Allen singled to center. After Hamilton flew out, Penny Higdon singled to left, Allen stopping at second.

Spanks then drilled a base hit to right-center, scoring Allen. But Higdon, trying to go to third on the hit, wound up being the third out when Kalliam's throw to Gamblin beat the Lionette third sacker by 15 feet. Higdon tried to scramble back to second but was tagged out by shortstop Mary Flint following a quick throw from Gamblin.

After game three was rained out last Saturday evening, the Sunbirds moved into the World Series with Johnson's second 1-0 triumph.

SAN JOSE'S ONLY run in the game was hardly scored in spectacular fashion.

Kalliam opened the contest by reaching first on an error. Benedetto wild pitched her to second and the SJ center fielder moved to third on a passed ball. Moments later she romped home on Benedetto's second wild pitch of the frame. That was all Johnson needed.

Working out of a couple of jams, Johnson maintained her mastery over the Lionettes by limiting them to just four hits. The Sunbird righthander walked two and fanned four.

Benedetto, aside from her first inning problems, actually turned in a more impressive performance. The Santa Ana ace no-hit the Sunbirds until Carol Salsbury's Texas Leaguer fell in between the Lionettes' shortstop, leftfielder and centerfielder with one out in the fifth.

Benedetto wound up with a five-hitter, walking no one and striking out eight.

Connecticut sweeps by Ravens in East division play-offs

JOAN JOYCE only had to take the mound once during the East division play-offs last week as the Connecticut Falcons breezed to a three game sweep of their series with the Chicago Ravens.

The legendary Joyce opened the series with a 4-1, two-hit victory over Sherry Diamond and the Ravens. Joyce, who was 39-2 during the regular season, allowed just two hits.

Connecticut won the second game 2-0 in Chicago as Sandy Fischer outdueled Donna Lopiano, who once formed an almost unbeatable one-two pitching rotation with Joyce during their amateur days with Stratford, Connecticut.

The Falcons then wrapped up the East division title last Sunday evening by outsluffing the Ravens 6-4. Joyce Compton, who led the Women's Professional Softball League in runs-batted-in on the season, spurred the Falcons to victory with a homer. Bobby Mattingly homered for the losers.

Kathy Neal notched the win over Susan Sinovich.

PLAY-OFF STAR — Brenda Gamblin, gunning a throw across the diamond to first sacker Allie Henderson, was one of the stars in last week's play-off series sweep of the Santa Ana Lionettes. Gamblin drove in the winning run in the series opener (a 1-0 triumph in 18 innings) and knocked in both runs the next night in a 2-1 win.

Long weekend, but Falcons respectable

By DICK SPARRER
Sports Editor

SOMETIMES IT JUST doesn't pay to roll out of bed in the morning. And no one knows that better than John Sheppard of the Cal West Falcon fast pitch softball team.

It seemed like just when things were going right for Sheppard at the Amateur Softball Association men's A National tournament in Hamilton, Ohio, things went wrong!

It all started in John's first trip to home plate on Labor Day weekend. Sheppard drilled a home run over the fence and it looked like things were going great. But Sheppard's homer was disallowed when an umpire ruled a baserunner had left too soon.

That wasn't bad enough. In his second time at bat, Sheppard laced a line drive off the fence. But once again a runner was out for leaving too soon and John lost another hit.

Sheppard was five for five for the Falcons in that first game, but it went down in the books as just a three for five day.

WELL, AT LEAST things were looking good for the slugger because he was hitting the ball well, right — wrong! In his first time up the second in game, officials ruled Sheppard's aluminum bat was illegal because of a slight bend. So he had to trade in the club he'd used all year for an unfamiliar piece of lumber.

It appeared as nothing more could go wrong for Sheppard in the tourney, but never believe things to be as they appear. In his last pitching start for the Falcons Sheppard was stung in the eye by a bee.

Well, to say the least, it was a long weekend for Sheppard and his Falcon teammates. But despite all of the odds against them, the Falcons came up with a respectable National showing and vow to return in 1977.

The Falcons finished 17th in the tournament of more than 60 teams but still put more players on the all-tourney team that any other club in the event. And three more Cal West players came within an eyelash of winning all-tourney berths.

"We didn't expect the tournament to be so tough," admitted Falcon sponsor Ed Woodall. "There were four or five teams there who finished second in their open regionals."

"But we did very well," he added. "We're excited about going back next year."

"We had no idea it was going to be the caliber of a tournament that it was," said Woodall. "Basically it was open teams that had only one good thrower. It was tough."

THE FALCONS won three games and lost twice in the event, getting eliminated in a 6-5 loss to Detroit. Detroit had completed in the National open tournament in 1975.

Three Falcons nailed all-tourney berths, the most representatives from one team in the entire event. In previous years no player from a 17th place team had ever won all-tourney honors.

Center fielder Oly Olson, first baseman John Figueroa and catcher Dave Hendrix each nabbed all-tourney spots for the Falcons.

Olson also picked up an award as the top hitter in the tournament with a .500 average. Figueroa hit .470 and Hendrix hit .430.

Sheppard, shortstop Fred Santos and second sacker Jim Bartlett narrowly missed all-tournament spots.

The Falcons opened the tourney with an 8-3 win over Delaware before losing to Wisconsin 5-0. Cal West dropped Minnesota 10-4 before falling from the tournament in a 6-5 loss to Detroit.

Cycles at Fairgrounds for 3rd San Jose Mile

IT'S NOT TOO often that a national championship sports event comes to the San Jose area — at least, not unless the combatants are sitting on powerful two-wheelers!

For the third time this year the American Motorcycle Association is looking to San Jose as the site for a national championship event on the dirt oval at the Santa Clara county fairgrounds.

Bob Barkhimer Associates, in cooperation with Camel Cigarettes, will stage the nationally-famed San Jose Mile as part of the 28 Camel Pro Series classics for 1976.

The 25 mile national championship race will be held on Sunday, Sept. 26, with the nation's top two-wheeler pilots battling at over 130 miles per hour in the 26th of the 28 race Camel series. It marks the first time that one promoter has been awarded three nationals in one season.

Rex Beauchamp has already won twice this year on the fast, one-mile San Jose oval and will be gunning for his third straight on Sept. 26.

Beauchamp literally limped to the winner's circle last September, accidentally running over his own foot during the course of the race. The lead changed hands over 40 times in a six man battle before Beauchamp claimed the win.

More than 90 cyclists will speed for berths in the main event in a series of qualifying rounds, heats and semi-mains.

Tickets for the event are available at Barkhimer Associates, 14 Camp Evers lane, Scotts Valley, and may be reserved by telephone Tuesdays through Fridays from noon to 4 p.m. at 408-438-3210.

Trans Terra slate resumes

THE TRANS TERRA Off Road racing schedule will continue on Friday night at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds course. Drivers will be gunning for points towards the Roads Unlimited Racing Association title.

Drivers will fire up their engines for practice and hot laps Friday at 6 p.m. with racing beginning at 8 p.m.

The Trans Terra racers, in the A and B Sport Sedans, the Super Sports and TT Sprint Cars, will pilot their machines Friday, Sept. 17, and Friday, Sept. 24, in the final two scheduled events of the season.

Little League leader

The coach with winning ways is inspired by 'togetherness'

By BARBARA PAGE

"THE WEEKEND we got married was the first time Jack had ever missed a game," said Maryann Zogg of her husband John L. Zogg, a little league coach for the past 19 years — 17 for the Campbell Little League.

Zogg's dedication has certainly paid off — three times, in 1966, 1973 and 1976, he and team manager John Emory have coached the Campbell All-Stars all the way to the state playoffs, and this year they took top honors as the best little league team in the nation at the World Series last month in Williamsport, Penn.

"The boys were disappointed that they didn't win the world's championship against Japan," Zogg recalled, "but after John and I talked to them, they realized that they were the United States champs — they had thought they'd lost everything with that last game. The hardest thing they had to do after losing to Japan was to go out and cheer the other team, most of them with tears in their eyes.

"But kids have fantastic recuperative powers," he continued, "They recover much faster than adults. The team was walking in tall cotton by the time we got back here to that wonderful welcome home."

He attributes the team members' winning spirit not only to their working well together ("They just gel.") but also to the support they get from their fans. "The fans won game number 14," Zogg laughed. "I went out to check the pitcher about 20 minutes before the game and there were no rooters in sight — you never saw such long faces.

"But then we saw one of the fathers coming up over the hill and behind him were about 90 more from Campbell. From then on there was nothing but smiles on their faces."

THE CAMPBELL rooting section proved to be a surprise to game officials who said never before had there been such a crowd come such a distance for the Little League World Series.

There was an even larger following in San Bernardino, where 200 people commuted 500 miles between home and games to encourage the Campbell team to win four playoff games against other state champion teams.

The crowds rooted for Campbell, too, wherever the team went. "In San Bernardino the crowd shifted our way, and in Pennsylvania, too," Zogg said. "The boys were popular favorites all the way."

In their final game at Williamsport, the boys did not play their normal game. Zogg believes part of the problem was that they'd been on the road for some time and it was the 16th game after two months of continual play.

"The weather was different, too," he said, "nothing like what the boys were used to. Humidity was in the high 80's and bats didn't have the snap and the feet didn't have the speed they normally have."

Physical errors are a part of baseball, Zogg has found, but mental errors — which hurt the player's game much more — are not a problem to Campbell's All Star team. "We were complimented on the way our team handled themselves regarding mental errors," Zogg reported.

WHEN THE BALL is hit, all nine players move to certain predeisgnated positions on the field. Each has a place to be, but if he doesn't make it, that's a mental error. Or if he throws it to the wrong place or holds on to it, that is also a mental error. A physical error is a goof while you're trying to make the correct play, which happens to all players from time to time.

"This year has had quite an impact on my family," Zogg states emphatically, "because it's the first time we've ever been apart. It's been very time consuming and a big sacrifice on our families' part."

Maryann Zogg has a different point of view about their family's involvement with the little league. "It's wonderful, really, and baseball has always been our whole life during the summer."

Ten-year-old Ricky plays in the minors, and Steven, 2½, is ready right now to try out for a team. He has been a sort of team mascot for two seasons, now, and often watches the games from the dugout. During practice he can be seen catching a few with the older boys, who delight in trying to perfect his pitching style.

Daughter Jonelle, 4½, has definite plans about becoming the first girl in the little league, but, according to Maryann, her daddy sees it differently and hopes she will settle for the Bobby Sox League, where girls play softball rather than the little league's hardball game.

The entire Zogg family attends all of the games and Maryann, who wasn't "involved or interested in baseball in any way" before their marriage now looks forward to each season as eagerly as the rest of them.

"THAT'S ONE OF the things that attracted me to Jack in the first place," she recalls, "his dedication to the boys was very impressive.

"I always thought it was so neat when we were dating that a man with no children was so involved in helping them," she continued, "and I still do. Jack has a certain something; he can relate to the boys so well."

She also finds the baseball players themselves admirable. "You just fall in love with all of them."

Zogg, who played only sand lot ball himself, puts it another way: "It's their feelings of togetherness that impresses me. When you've got 14 boys, you've got 14 very different boys — some shy, some outspoken — but in my 19 years as a coach I've never seen a real conflict between the players, on or off the field."

LITTLE LEAGUE coach Jack Zogg pauses a moment during the team's first meeting after returning home with the U.S. championship this summer. The 43-year-old Santa Clara county surveyor uses his summer vacations to travel with the ballplayers. He has barely enough time, his wife says, to rush from work to his Azule avenue home in San Jose to pick up son Ricky, who plays in the minors, and get to the field at John D. Morgan Park for the team's practice sessions.
